

RESIDENTIAL AGED CARE

ACHIEVING ORGANISATIONAL SUSTAINABILITY IN AGED CARE

DESIGNING SOLUTIONS TO ENSURE AGED CARE PROVIDERS CONTINUE TO MEET THE NEEDS OF THE COMMUNITY

As aged care providers evaluate their environment post-COVID 19, many are wondering how can they continue to meet the future needs of the community?

Providers are facing consistently increasing pressure of compliance obligations and soaring operating costs, coupled with staff shortages and increased provider competition. This presents the challenge and question - how can we achieve organisational sustainability?

Organisation sustainability planning enables aged care providers to continue to deliver their purpose, enhancing customer and employee satisfaction, enhance competitiveness among its peers and consistently deliver in operating surplus.

How to achieve long-term success?

In recent years, the Department of Health have been supporting aged care providers with funding through the Business Improvement and Structural Adjustment Program. The outcomes of this program have seen varying levels of success to increase capability and sustainability.

Whilst success could be attributed to a number of considered solutions, many aged care operators would be asking - which solution is the right fit for my organisation?

Ninety Mile Consulting (NMC) is a regional aged care specialist management consulting firm that supports CEOs, Executives and Boards to solve their most challenging issues.

"NMC are very proud of the support we have provided our clients and the impact we have delivered in achieving long-term organisational success. Our expertise enables us to identify what solutions are required to maximise results for the provider and the community."
